“ Mom I miss you everyday! I wish I could say it's been a bit easier as time has gone on since you left this world but it hasn't. I cry everyday for you. On my way to work, when I'm home alone, or just when I got to bed at night. I cry every single day. I truly miss you mom and I just can't seem to wrap my head around the fact that you're gone. It's difficult for me to comprehend. It's still so surreal to me I don't know how to cope. I try everyday and everyday is a struggle for me. I wish I could call you but I can't. I'm still waiting for you to come visit me in my dreams. Let me know you're ok and what it looks like in heaven. I can't wait to hear from you. Love you Mom!

“ Mom, today is Christmas and its so hard that you're not here with us physically. It's definitely a different Christmas this year and I know going forward they will never be the same. But I know in my heart that you're here with us spiritually and I feel like you've sent us little messages from above to let us know that you're with us. I ask God every day to let you visit me in my dreams but only He knows why that hasn't happened. I truly and deeply miss you... the sound of your voice, the smell of your clothes and the smile on your face. You left us with so many great memories Mom and for that I am truly blessed and thankful that God gave you to me for 37 years. Until we meet again Mama. I love you so much. Merry Christmas. I know your spending Christmas with Jesus Christ this year.

“ Grandma today I light a candle for you. Today marks one week without you. And today we said our last goodbye. I'm so thankful to have had you as my grandma. So many wonderful memories you left us with. I wish you were here physically but I know your off in a much better place no longer suffering and in eternal peace. If it was up to me I'd trade all my tomorrows for one yesterday with you. But until we meet again Grandma. Love you!!

“ Mom, I can't believe our good Lord above chose to take you away from this world. You would think I would be angry or hateful, but instead I am absolutely Grateful that he gifted you to me as my mother for 37 years. You taught me how to love unconditionally, how to count my blessings and see the good in others. I will ALWAYS love you more than words can ever describe. A peice of me died when you left this world, and one day we will meet again. As I told you once before I had a plan for you, but God had a different plan. I'm sure his is much greater than my own. After all, who am I to disagree with God. LOVE YOU SO MUCH!
